Established in the year 2005, HTC is a globally renowned multilingual translation services company in Lahore - Pakistan. We boast of a winning combination of translation skills along with industry expertise, i.e. an exceptionally talented team of multilingual translators who hold the potential to translate for any specific industry with the highest degree of quality and excellence. Also, we have a huge portfolio of accurate translation, interpretation, localization and DTP services.

With a long successful journey in the translation industry, we have certainly achieved immense recognition in the global market, thereby winning the trust of many private, public and non-profit organizations.

We take immense pleasure and pride in introducing ourselves as the trusted translation agency in Pakistan.

Our team operates across multitude of sectors/ industries for translation, such as technical, telecommunications, media, IT, digital marketing, legal, real estate, oil and gas, financial, healthcare and the like.

Further, with an experience of working for both start-ups and MNCs, our team has garnered enough expertise to handle their varied needs for native language translation services, along with all types of interpretation and localization.

Also, we believe that quality is the most critical component of translation services. Hence, our native human translators make sure that the translated text is a clear rendition of the original; keeping the original message and meaning intact.
