ABILITIES

JOB PROFILE

I consider myself to be highly qualified in my field of work; I see my profession as a passion and I work very well as a team. I have always worked in interdisciplinary teams, requiring an organization, planning and ability to adapt constantly. Over the years, I have developed a wide range of communication skills, active listening, assertiveness, empathy, face-to-face and virtual attention, as well as good management of work under stressful situations. I feel motivated and eager to add value to your company.

I am passionate about reading, travelling, photography and other artistic manifestations. I have always felt comfortable with cultural exchanges and openness to different ways of thinking, broadening my world view and becoming a person who respects differences. I believe that everyone is unique and that diversity is what enriches us by being able to learn from different personal experiences.
