Profile

I am a twenty-one-year-old recently graduated student. I will be commencing my master's degree course later this year and will complete it in a part-time format over the course of two years, which will allow me to balance my studies with other pursuits, including work. I wish to use these two years to gain work experience and broaden my horizons. I am observant, focused, and perfectionistic, and in a work setting I would commit myself to carrying out my responsibilities to the highest standards possible. In addition, I am sociable and capable of coordinating with others to complete tasks. I thus believe that I could be an asset regardless of whether I am required to work independently or as part of a team.
