ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

I am an honest, self- driven and hardworking person. I am willing to learn new knowledge and dedicate myself to complete the task given. I prefer learning by doing. Being sociable, having positive attitude and get along with most people also being my additional value. I am comfortable taking responsibility and work well both in a team and independently to meet established objectives. Punctuality is the other things that would make me a correct candidate. Now I am here put all my efforts to have more experience in different industries, and an open mind to others' critics and suggestions in handling problems.
