Voluntary Experience

Kuliah Kerja Nyata (KKN) in Nganjuk, Blitaran Village (Aug 2019-Sept 2019)

- Helping the illiterate villagers to learn how to read and write.
- Raising awareness of the benefits and dangers of technology for the children through a seminar. We informed parents to monitor what the children are seeing on their gadgets while still respecting their privacy.
- Educating the villagers, especially the ones who were interested in sport, about how to massage athletes professionally and what to do for the first aid when an injury happens, making them able to help injured people who are partaking in a sport-like activities.
- Donating educational and fictional books to the village library, making an event every other day in the library so the children's reading interest would skyrocket. The children often came there to socialize with the group and we encouraged them to read while still maintaining a fun atmosphere.
- Visiting the public school in the village and raising awareness of the importance of literacy.
- Helping the villagers' events so they would go smoothly.
