

JOSÉ RICARDO FILHO

LINGUIST

PROFILE

A young Brazilian translator and writer specialized in games, marketing and arts. I've been working with localization since 2013 and I'm a published writer here in Brazil. You can check one of my short stories in the book "14 novos autores brasileiros" organized by awarded Brazilian writer Adriana Lisboa. I've worked as a linguist on many games, marketing material, literary translation, creation and transcreation and have translated approximately a million words, consisting mainly of games. Some of my end-clients are: 2K games, Telltale Games, Gearbox Software, Skybound, Microsoft Studios, Mojang, Capcom, Square Enix, Bandai Namco, Devolver Studios and other developers on mobile and casual games. Although games are my specialty, I've work in a lot of other fields for big companies such as: Google, Peugeot, Harley-Davidson, Equatex, Infor, Investing.com, Newell Rubbermaid, Johnson & Johnson and others. I'm also a Law student at one of the most prestigious universities here in Brazil: Universidade Federal Fluminense, which grants me a vast knowledge in Law, Philosophy, Sociology and Humanities in general.
