

Lynn Sadedin

English > Arabic freelance translator

A team worker, self-confidence and ambitious person, with excellent communication and soft skills, and over 5 years of experience in English translation. I have started my journey in translation out of my passion in languages especially English and Arabic, starting from being a volunteer for teams and pages, where I have been working on translating. I started my freelancing journey to end up being a professional freelance translator working in the book translation industry.
