PROFILE

I am a passionate individual with a strong commitment to making a positive impact by helping people, whether it's through online platforms or face-to-face interactions. With excellent communication skills and a diverse background in various roles, complemented by my studies, I can bring a unique perspective to solving different situations.

My university studies have sharpened my analytical thinking skills, working remotely for Netflix and Disney+ have given me enough to learn about delivering a product on time remaining calm and collected. I am dedicated to continuous learning, always seeking opportunities to expand my knowledge and skills.
