I am passionate about acquiring knowledge and degrees from various fields. Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar, my educational inspiration, authored the Indian Constitution and earned nine degrees during his lifetime, including B.A, M.A (2), M.Sc, D.Sc, PhD, LLD, D.Litt, and Bar-at-law. Utilizing the Undergraduate Commission of India's allowance for dual degree enrollment, I pursued B.A through distance learning at Sikkim Manipal University and a Bachelor of Physiotherapy course at Oasis Medical College, Pune. Soon, I'll be receiving my Doctor of Medicine degree, followed by the need to pass the Foreign Medical Graduate Examination for a medical practice license in India. Despite starting my medical career, my passion for acquiring degrees will persist.
